

Q4.12 What factor should be considered for choosing organizations structure?

Ans Organization structure generally refers to the way in which a business or similar organization arranges its tasks, people, and techniques. A properly organized organization, ensuring the complete and timely disclosure of information, the main factors to consider when designing an organizational structure include clarity, understanding, decentralization, stability & adaptability.

there are giving 9 factors should be considered for choosing organization structure:-

- 1) strategy
- 2) Technology
- 3) people
- 4) Tasks
- 5) Decisions
- 6) Informal - Organization
- 7) Size
- 8) Environment
- 9) Managerial perceptions.