

Answer No-10

i) MIS → A Management Information System (MIS) is a computerized database of financial information organized and programmed in such a way that it produces regular reports on operations for every level of management in a company. It is usually also possible to obtain special reports from the system easily.

(ii) Methods of Collect Data :->

Commonly used methods are :->

- (1) Literature source
- (2) Surveys
- (3) Interviews
- (4) Observation
- (5) Documents & Records
- (6) Experiments

(iii) ERP :-> ERP stands for Enterprise Resource

Plannings and refers to software and systems used to plan and manages all the core supply chain, manufacturing, service, financial and other processes of an organization.

ERPs connect every aspects of an enterprises

An ERP software system allows for better performance and project management.

that helps plans, budget, predict and

Accurately report on an organization's financial health and processes.

✓) DSS :-> A decision Support System (DSS) is a computerized program used to Support determinations, judgements, and Courses of actions in an organization or a business.

A DSS sifts through and Analyzes massive amount of data, Compiling Comprehensive Information that can be used to Solve problems and in decision-making.

Typically Information used by a DSS includes target or projected revenue, Sales figures or past ones from different times periods and other Inventory - or operations - related data.