

Ans. Plus decision making model presumes a formal mechanism, provided by the organisation, to allow employees access to a definitive interpretation of the policies, laws and universal values when their own knowledge of these PLUS factors is insufficient for them to make the decision with a high level of confidence.