

SECTION - 4

Q2 1. Three things are needed in order to fulfill basic human aspiration - right understanding, right relationship and physical facilities.

2. Humans aspiration are the things which all human beings aspire for. Aspiration stand for our longings and deep desire. Hence, the basic aspiration or deep desire of all human beings are only happiness and prosperity. In respect to fulfill these aspiration we need such things to satisfy our basic need like, food, clothing and shelter etc. Moreover, these aspiration of human being may be fulfilled, if he/she is following the right order. The basic requirement for fulfillment of human aspiration are:

1. Right understanding: Right understanding helps us to decide how we work for physical facilities and maintain feeling of different relationship with others. It is one of the major tool for fulfillment of our aspiration, which basically need the transformation from animal consciousness to human consciousness. The theory of Coexistence (to live together) is basically needed to comprehend the surroundings.

(ii) Relationship: In nature to create harmony there is a basic need for affectionate with other individual's.

Physical facilities: Physical facilities like food, clothes, shelter, and protection are the basic need of all human beings. It is the right sense of understanding which is capable to fulfill them as required.

Happiness:- Happiness results from a variety of feelings that are effortless and come naturally to us.

Trust, honesty, respect, confidence, etc. are feelings that we welcome with open arms at all time.

Thus, happiness is a state where there is harmony all around.

Prosperity: It is clear that prosperity is linked to material possessions or physical facilities.

All the physical things we need to take care of our body needs constitute these physical facilities.

To understand prosperity, we need to correctly assess the need of physical facilities and be able to make available more than enough of these facilities.