

Section-3

3-2 Definitiveness is desirable in human conduct.

The definitiveness of human conduct in terms of values, policies and characteristic terms as ethics. The ethics in the living of an individual can be imbibed only through inculcation of values, policies and character, and this is possible through the process of ensuring ~~write~~ right understanding through self exploration.

In other words ethics (also known as moral philosophy) is a branch of philosophy that addresses question about morality - that is, concept such as good ~~verses~~ vs. bad, noble vs. ignoble, right vs. wrong and matters of justice, love, peace and virtue.

A human being with ethical human conduct & coupled with requisite professional skill only can be a good professional, namely, a good engineer, a good manager, a good teacher & ~~researcher~~ researcher, a good technocrat etc.

Page No. _____

(i) Ethical conduct implies that it naturally exceptable to me and does not give rise to conflict within.

(ii) Ethical conduct implies that it is consonance with right understanding ~~with~~ of the reality - the underline harmony at all levels.

(iii) Ethical conduct implies that it leads to mutual fulfillment with other people and mutual enrichment
with rest of nature.

Thus, the ethical conduct is self satisfying, people friendly, eco-friendly and universal.