

Question 4. Prove that trust the foundational value on love is complete value.

Answer. Trust or विश्वास is the foundational value in relationship "To be assured that each human being inherently wants oneself and the other to be happy and prosperous" is known as trust. Mutual trust is a shared belief that can depend on each other to achieve a common purpose. Trust is the expectation of people that they can rely on our word. It is built through integrity and consistency in relationship.

Love is called the complete value since this is the feeling of relatedness to all human beings. It is the emotion of strong affection and personal attachment. In other words, love is a feeling of warm personal attachment or deep affection, as for a parent, child or friend. It starts with identifying that one is related to the other human being (the feeling of affection) and it slowly expands to the feeling of being related to all human beings.

The feeling or value is also called the complete value since this is the feeling of relatedness to all human beings. It starts with identifying that one is related to the other being (the feeling of affection) and it slowly expands to the feeling of being related to all human beings. The feeling of love leads to an undivided society; it starts from a family and slowly expands to the world family in the form of love.