① Our surroundings include air, water, space, plants and animals. The total existence has a togetherness and co-existence. This togetherness in an organized manner where every individual serves a function and is ready to help and support others is known as universal human order or holistic alternative or Swarajya.

② For the understanding of harmony and undivided society human endeavour in form of education, health, production, justice, exchange is necessary. A correct appraisal of our surrounding will lead to help us to find a viable alternative of prevailing pattern of human living.
