

Section - 9

Q Human being is the Co-existence of the self and the body - Explain this statement.

A The human being is the co-existence of I and the body and there is exchange of information b/w the two.

ie, I and body exist together and are related.

There is a flow of information from I to the body and from the body, we can make this distinction b/w the self and the body in three ways in terms of the needs activities and the types of these two entities.

All the needs of I, say Respect, trust etc, can be need as happiness, trust etc and body are physical facilities like food.

The two things are qualitatively different there is no relevance of quantity for the needs of I as it is qualitative, while the need of body.

Human Being	Self I	Body
Needs	Happiness	Physical faculty
fulfilled	Right understand & feeling	Physicochemical things
Activities	Desire, Thought Expectation Knowledge Recognizing	Eating Walking Recognizing fulfilling

This concludes we can say that the human being can be understood in terms of co-existence of two entirely distinct entities.

Their needs and activities are quite different and understood
