

→ Discuss about the strategic framework for HRM

→ Strategic management of human resources is a transformation that is relatively new in the field of human resource management. An important role of strategic human resources management is about focusing management in employees as a tool to gain competitive advantage.

→ Performance management is a planned process in which key elements are different measurement, feedback, positive reinforcement and ongoing dialogue between manager and employee.