

Human resource management

Section - 1

Q1 SHRM → Strategic human resource management is concerned with the relationship between HRM and strategic management in an organization.

It can be defined as the linking of human resources with strategic goals and objective in order to improve business performance and develop organisation.

Relation in an organisation

SHRM the pattern planned human resource deployment and activity intend to enable organisation to achieve its goals. SHRM practice refer to the deployment and activity to achieve organization success through a pattern of planned behaviors.